Washington D.C. Model Spring 2011

Baylor MOAS in Washington D.C.

Baylor University's MOAS team represented the Republic of Panama this year at the model in Washington D.C. The team met with Ambassador Cochez, the ambassador to the OAS from Panama and attended a meeting of the Permanent Council in the Simón Bolívar room. Baylor students won the chairpersons for the Third, First and General Committees of the 2012 model and the Fourth Committee delegates won the Best Resolution Award for their committee.

Baylor's 2011 Resolution Topics

Recognizing Indicators for Instability in Democracies
Widening Women's Political Participation in the Hemisphere
New Mechanisms for Funding Electoral Observation Monitors
Protecting Culture by Cataloguing Folklore
Preventing Impunity in the Hemisphere
Improving Youth Awareness about the Danger of Drugs
Increasing Literacy in the Region
